Disrupting Common Sense: A Skeptic's Take on Crypto

Virtual

There's something about crypto that makes otherwise rational people become unhinged. In this session, the presenter will present his case for the inevitable collapse of what he considers to be the biggest financial folly in human history. He says that crypto's foundation, bitcoin, is a confidence game with the excitement of gambling, the viral marketing of a pyramid scheme, and the fake profits of a Ponzi.

Offshore Intelligence & Investigations

Virtual

In this session, OffshoreAlert founder and editor David Marchant will look at some key developments and issues in major offshore financial centers in the areas of investigations and transparency. He will, among other things, explain why the appearance of certain jurisdictions in the complex corporate web of failed crypto group FTX should have been a deal-breaking red flag to prospective clients or investors, discuss the embrace of the fraud-ridden crypto industry, and identify one major offshore jurisdiction whose court took more than three years to produce a publicly-available court filing and expose flaws in the same jurisdiction's on-line corporate registry system.

Too Big to Jail: HSBC's Involvement in Financial Crime

Virtual

Across the world, HSBC likes to sell itself as 'the world's local bank', the friendly face of corporate and personal finance. However, the same bank was hit with a record U.S. fine of $1.9 billion for facilitating money laundering for 'drug kingpins and rogue nations'.

This session will analyze how a bank that boasts 'we're committed to helping protect the world's financial system on which millions of people depend by only doing business with customers who meet our high standards of transparency' came to provide services to now-imprisoned Mexican drugs lord El Chapo and his barbaric group of gangsters and ask why none of its representatives were criminally prosecuted..

The story starts in Hong Kong and ranges across London, Washington, the Cayman Islands and Mexico, where HSBC saw the opportunity to become the largest bank in the world, and El Chapo seized the chance to fuel his murderous empire by laundering his drug proceeds through the bank. It brings together an extraordinary cast of politicians, bankers, drug dealers, FBI officers, and whistle-blowers.
